

CITIZEN SCIENCE ENCOUNTER IN MEDIALAB-PRADO

Citizen Science is a part of scientific research that involves and encourages citizen participation in scientific projects, where technological tools and digital devices provide multiple possibilities for participation.

The programme of the two-days event (25-26 November 2016) is rich of sessions, with more than 20 talks, 10 workshops, and music performance and foresee the participation of a large community of spanish experts from different sectors: environmental research, DIY biohackers, philosophers, developers, school teachers and many other communities from citizen science in Spain.

This event is co-organized by Ibercivis, Medialab Prado, DITOs, Obra Social 'la Caixa' and RRI Tools.

Follow the event with #CienciaCiudadana

Streaming available:

Friday morning (Madrid time zone) <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vlDK14a9lX8>

Friday afternoon <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UK5F-PrmIk4>

Also in streaming.medialab-prado.es

Timetable: 25-26.11.2016, from 10:00h to 19:00h

Venue: Medialab-Prado ? Madrid

Plaza de las Letras. C/ Alameda, 15 · 28014 Madrid (Spain)

More information and the full programme of the event (in Spanish) here:

<http://medialab-prado.es/article/encuentro-de-ciencia-ciudadana2>