Greeting from the Mayor of Helsinki

Dear Delegate,

The City of Helsinki is honoured to host the World Library and Information Congress. We are looking forward to welcoming information specialists from all over the world in 2012, which is a true jubilee year for Helsinki, celebrating its 200th anniversary as capital of Finland and designation as World Design Capital.

It is impossible to overestimate the significance of the library system in the Nordic welfare model. Libraries reflect many of the most fundamental values of our society, such as openness and equality, and confirm our appreciation for learning and for knowledge. Furthermore, libraries play a critical role in achieving the aims of the information society. Not only do they ensure access to lifelong learning and electronic services for all citizens, but also offer opportunities for gaining new international perspectives and support for developing civic skills and media literacy.

In 2010 the Helsinki City Library celebrated its 150th anniversary. Its continuing vitality is the result of continuous renewal and successful adaptation to the expectations of the surrounding society. I feel that libraries are the hallmark of a highly educated nation with a will to embrace a wide and far-reaching future. Helsinki is currently preparing the foundation of a new Central Library. The concept of a library of the 21st century must go beyond traditional models. We see it as a social hub and a multi-media node for accessing skills, knowledge and stories.

Collaboration between academic and public libraries is lively in Finland. A brand new university library will be opened in 2012 in the heart of Helsinki City Campus. The library of the future is a living haven of culture, a hub of knowledge and inspiration that one can visit physically or virtually according to one's needs.

During the month of August, summer and Helsinki will be at their best, offering Congress delegates opportunities for a multitude of social and cultural activities. You will have a chance to discover our unique archipelago, as well as a chance to see and enjoy Finnish art, music, design and architecture.

I warmly welcome the World Library and Information Congress to Helsinki. We will do our utmost to make your stay successful and enjoyable.

Official Invitation

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the National Committee for IFLA WLIC 2012 Helsinki and the entire Finnish library community, we are honoured and happy to welcome you to IFLA's 78th Congress. We are enthusiastic and proud that Finland is serving as the host country for the annual Congress.

Our goal is to provide a fertile environment for new ideas and enlightened conversation. We aim to create an atmosphere in which the programme organised by different IFLA sections will flourish and have added value. We hope that our theme "Libraries now – inspiring, surprising and empowering" encourages you as much as we feel that libraries inspire their users.

In Finland, libraries are an essential part of society and its public infrastructure. Libraries are heavily used and held in high value. The main challenge for us librarians is to develop innovative services that inspire, surprise and empower new generations of library users. The Congress is strongly supported by all the Finnish library associations, Helsinki City Council, The Ministry of Education and Culture and all libraries in Finland.

During your visits to various libraries, you can evaluate the level of Finnish libraries and how well we have succeeded so far. Together with the congress bureau and the convention centre, our goal is to host the Congress in the spirit of sustainable development, using new technologies in innovative ways. Enthusiastic volunteers will provide the local personal touch and ensure that you find your way around and that your questions receive informative answers.

Helsinki is a pocket-sized metropolis where it is easy to move around even on foot. However, we will make it even easier for you by offering a free pass to use the metropolitan area's public transportation network (buses, metro, trains and trams).

You perhaps know Nokia, Marimekko, Moomins and Sibelius. Nevertheless, Finland is much more. It is also about egalitarian values, love of nature, and a pragmatic attitude. We invite and encourage you to scratch the surface and learn about the surprises and mysteries that Finland and the Finns can offer.

And if your appetite to see more is still strong, then Helsinki offers you the possibility to reach St Petersburg by train and Tallinn by boat – both in under four hours.

You are warmly welcomed to Helsinki – to the city which has been ranked by The Economist as one of the best cities in the world to live in!

It was visited by such esteemed figures as Jean Sibelius, Axel Gallen-Kallela and Maksim Gorki. The office's staff also lived at Hvitträsk, and this is where the plans were drawn up for the Helsinki Railway Station, the National Museum of Finland and the monumental Munkkiniemi-Haaga project, among other grand works.

Tuusula Excursion

Price per Person: 108 EUR

This cultural tour takes you to the area of Lake Tuusula where a large number of Finnish artists settled at the turn of the 19th and 20th century. Our first stop is Halosenniemi, the idyllic home and studio of the Finnish painter Pekka Halonen. You will also visit Ainola, the former home and now a home museum of the Finnish composer Jean Sibelius. Ainola is preserved as it was during Sibelius' time. After the visit at Ainola, you will enjoy a Finnish buffet lunch at a local restaurant, Krapu Manor. The tour ends at Helsinki city centre.

Ainola

Ainola stands on the scenic shores of Lake Tuusula in Järvenpää, about 30 minutes drive from the Finnish capital, Helsinki. It was the home of Jean Sibelius and his family from 1904. This timber-built villa was designed by the famous Finnish architect Lars Sonck. Its distance from the hustle and bustle of the nation's capital gave the composer the peace that he needed for his creative endeavours, while other artistic families living in the neighbourhood provided a lively social circle.

Krapuhovi

Restaurant Krapuhovi both cherishes and creates Finnish food tradition in an idyllic villa environment. The pearl-grey main building with its green touches was built in 1883 by the Councillor of State Sourander for his summer residence and for the main building of the Krapu estate. The handsome villa-style building amid the old park is a fine specimen of the wooden architecture of its time. The old building's chambers and halls in two stories have a special atmosphere and are a great venue for functions for up to 190 people.

Helsinki is unique among Northern European cities. Helsinki's identity has been formed by cultural influences from both the East and West.
