A Cultural Deal for Europe - Policy Conversation

, European Cultural Foundation, and Europa Nostra invite you to join the Cultural Deal for Europe annual policy conversation: Culture is the new energy for Europe on 28 February from 15.00-18.00 CET.

The European Parliament elections 2024 are approaching, preceded in 2023 by the mid-term review of the Multi-Annual Financial Framework (MFF), which might add extra resources to the EU's budget for the second half of the financial cycle to tackle the era of multicrisis.

Culture needs to be at the core of both debates, and strategically associated with the collective effort ahead of the major democratic exercise in Europe. We believe culture is a fundamental value for democracy and that it is our duty to imagine the future place and role of culture and cultural heritage in Europe.

The Cultural Deal for Europe campaign ? by Culture Action Europe, European Cultural Foundation and Europa Nostra ? presents eight proposals to put culture centre stage]in EU's policies.

On 28 February, it is organized and online conversation with the members of the European Parliament representing various political groups.

It is possible to register for the online webinar via the link below. The deadline to register is 27 February at 12pm CET.
