Applications open for the EUreka3D-XR online training programme

Wednesdays: 19 November, 26 November, 03 December 2025 at 3-5pm CET

The programme includes 3 online sessions of 2 hours each, dedicated to build capacity and expand knowledge in cultural heritage professionals involved in digitisation of cultural collections and processes. Spanning from EU policies, strategies, resources and funding opportunities, to case studies about innovation and presentations of state-of-the-art technologies and accessible tools to foster reuse of collections, the three sessions will showcase the panorama of challenges and solutions for the digital transformation in cultural heritage.

Each session is focused on a specific theme and is opened with a keynote talk from different domain experts: Dr. Antonella Fresa (Photoconsortium); prof. Fred Truyen (KU Leuven) and Dr. David Iglésias Franch (CRDI ? Ajuntament de Girona); prof. Frederik Temmermans (VUB ? imec) and prof. Eirini Kaldeli (National Technical University of Athens).

While the keynote talks are open to a wide group of participants, interactive working sessions will be offered to a selected group of 30 learners, who will have the opportunity to discuss, engage and share experiences, moderated by a facilitator. The three interactive working sessions will be facilitated by prof. Peter Fornaro (Head Research Projects at the Digital Humanities Lab ? University of Basel). The selected learners will receive a certificate of participation.
