Berlin Charter - the project's legacy

During the International Conference ?DIGITAL HERITAGE AND INNOVATION, ENGAGEMENT AND IDENTITY?], held in Berlin on 12-13 November 2015, the partners of CIVIC EPISTEMOLOGIES (www.civic-epistemologies.eu) and RICHES (www.riches-project.eu) projects proposed the adoption of the Berlin Charter, a set of principles for encouraging and supporting citizens' engagement in cultural heritage and humanities research in the digital age.

Several European organisations and individuals have already agreed to sign the Charter and to advocate its principles in their own operations.

The Charter is open to be adopted by all interested parties, namely private organisations, public institutions, artists, professionals, researchers and interested citizens.

Should you wish to adopt the Berlin Charter, please contact:

Mauro Fazio] (the Project Coordinator, mauro.fazio@mise.gov.it) or Antonella Fresa (the Project Technical Coordinator, fresa@promoter.it)

DOWNLOAD THE BERLIN CHARTER here: http://www.civic-epistemologies.eu/berlin-charter/in the image above, Neil Forbes, the RICHES Project Coordinator, and Mauro Fazio, the CIVIC EPISTEMOLOGIES Project Coordinator, confirmed the adoption of the Berlin Charter with a handshake.