

Call for researcher ? Upcoming NEMO report on climate policies for museums

Call for research

Network of European Museum
Organisations

Research and compilation of climate related policies addressing museums in Europe

The Network of European Museum Organisations (NEMO) is looking to hire a researcher who will conduct and compile the research for a report on climate related policies that address museums in the 27 member states of the European Union. The Study should be finalised by 1 September 2023.

Find more details in the call for proposals. Apply by sending a proposal until 31 March.

The Study will contain:

An executive summary of the research; a general introduction to the investigated climate policies and how they relate to museums generally; a compilation of climate related policies addressing museums in Europe (EU-27) on national, regional and local level; a compilation of good examples of museums from different countries implementing and utilizing climate policies in their operations; and a practical guide for museums to utilize and implement climate related policies that address them in their museum work.