

City of the future - STARTS Open Call for Artists

]

Nesta Italia, supported by Fondazione Compagnia di San Paolo and the European Commission, is launching 'City of the future' - S+T+ARTS Open Call for Artists, Creatives and Collectives, addressed to creatives from all over Europe. The aim of the Open Call is to enhance the intersection between Arts, Science and Technology to experiment new approaches in the development of more emphatic, human-centred applications of new technologies in the urban context.

Tech companies and research centres from Turin will launch a series of challenges, to which artists and collectives can respond by submitting a project proposal. An independent jury will select three winners, which will be awarded with 17,000 euros each and work on their project during a three months residency (February - May 2021), in collaboration with local curators and producers.

If you want to learn more about the Open Call, selection criteria and application process, check out Nesta Italia's website.

Deadline: 30th November 2020
