Collect & Connect: Archives and Collections in a Digital Age

International Conference:

Collect & Connect: Archives and Collections in a Digital Age

Collect & Connect aims to promote exchange and discussion between researchers and heritage professionals in the field of digital heritage. The conference officially concludes the Making Sense of Illustrated Handwritten Archives research project and presents the results of finished and original research in the field of digitized archives and cultural and natural heritage collections. The 2-day program offers a mix of keynotes, a round table discussion, project demonstrations and paper presentations.

Keynotes:

Sharon Leon, Associate Professor of History and Digital Humanities at Michigan State University on 'From Event to Data Set: Perspective, Structure, and the Problem of Representation in Data-Driven Digital History'
Franco Niccolucci, director of VAST-LAB research laboratory at PIN in Prato, Italy (PIN - University of Florence) on 'The data challenge for cultural and natural heritage'
Lambert Schomaker, Professor of Artificial Intelligence at the University of Groningen and scientific director of the ALICE (Artificial Intelligence & Cognitive Engineering) research institute on 'From pixels to knowledge using AI: Where do the humans fit in?'

Click here for the full program, including all paper presentations, the Round table and the Demolab presentations.

Connect with the other participants
One of the main aims of an in-person event is to connect with other participants. This can be a driver for new collaborations with different stakeholders in the field. We wouldn't want you to miss out on that experience! NetworkTables enables you to connect with conference participants, exchange contact details and remain in touch with them after the conference. So please fill in your NetworkTables profile when you register for the event! You'll find instructions on the registration page. NetworkTables is an online service which does not require you to install software on your computer.

Useful links and hashtags

International conference website Collect & Connect: Archives and Collections in a Digital Age. 23 - 24 November 2020, The Netherlands.

About the Making Sense of Illustrated Handwritten Archives project, its goals and its research partners.

#COLCO2020

#shareyourknowlegde

#collectandconnect

Register now at http://register.makingsenseproject.org