CULTURA Workshop at the Austrian Centre for Digital Humanities

On 10th January 2014 a half-day workshop was conducted at the Austrian Centre for Digital Humanities (ZIM) at the University of Graz.

Workshop participants were members of the centre, as well as researchers from the Dialect Cultures project.

The final version of the CULTURA research environment was demonstrated with the 1641 Depositions and the IPSA collection.

In a hands-on session participants had the opportunity to try out the system with both collections.

The workshops was very useful for gathering meaningful user feedback on CULTURA, but also in terms of disseminating the project results to experienced members of the digital humanities community.
