Europeana Academy: the training programme for professionals working with, in and around cultural heritage

We are delighted to announce the launch of Europeana Academy, the Europeana Foundation]training programme for professionals working with, in and around cultural heritage. The Academy will support professionals in the sector to develop new skills and knowledge through a comprehensive and enriching learning experience.

The Academy combines two aspects. The first is a digital training platform through which you can follow online, self-paced training on topics from copyright in cultural heritage collections, to using Europeana's APIs, to IIIF, to data statistics and aggregation. The second is live, instructor-led training sessions which offer you the chance to follow these courses in real time with the support of an expert instructor.

Find out more about the academy and register!]