The Europeana Network Association (ENA) is excited to invite you to join the ENA Outreach Event to learn more about how ENA can support your skills, networks and career. The event, running between 11:00-16:00 (CET) on 13 November will cover three main areas; ENA in your country and region, ENA and networking and training, and ENA specialist communities.

The first two sessions will focus on how ENA can support you and colleagues in your country (11:15-12:30 CET), and on the benefits of being an ENA member, including how to access networking opportunities, training and Europeana's tools and services (14:30-16:00 CET). Participating is going to connect you with a 5,000+ strong community of experts working in, with or around the cultural heritage sector.

The day's final session (14:30-16:00 CET) will focus on the seven seven specialist ENA communities (Climate Action, Communicators, Copyright, Education, Impact, Research and EuropeanaTech) to explore the connection between ENA and the common European data space for cultural heritage, a great opportunity for the participants to hear from ENA members, share your experiences and discover new initiatives.

The event is free to join, online, and once you register for a ticket you will be able to join for specific sessions or the whole event. You can register at this link.
