

FILE ? Electronic Language International Festival 2026

FILE ? Electronic Language International Festival is now accepting project submissions and invites artists, researchers, creators, and developers to participate in its next edition.

An international reference in the fields of art, technology, and innovation, FILE will take place in São Paulo from August 18 to October 11, 2026 at the FIESP Cultural Center, bringing together artworks, experiences, and research that investigate contemporary transformations of artistic languages mediated by technology.

In this new edition, FILE expands and reconfigures its curatorial structure, organizing itself into multiple axes and festivals dedicated to the diverse areas of contemporary Art and Technology. This expansion seeks to encompass both constantly evolving media and languages, as well as the incorporation of Artificial Intelligence into already established categories within the field.

Submissions are open until February 19, 2026, read the full regulations here<<<<

The call is open and free of charge, welcoming national and international projects that explore the relationships between Art, Technology, and Artificial Intelligence, including but not limited to: Robotic Art and AI, Augmented and Virtual Reality, Games and Digital Games with AI, Digital Animation and AI, Digital Cinema and AI, Electronic Music and AI, LED Shows, Digital Video and AI, and Digital Architecture and AI.