ANSI/NISO Z39.87-2006 (R2011) Data Dictionary

Standard created by the National Information Standard Organization that defines a set of metadata elements for raster digital images to enable users to develop, exchange, and interpret digital image files. The dictionary has been designed to facilitate interoperability between systems, services, and software as well as to support the long-term management of and continuing access to digital image collections.