

Open source project

In the context of PREFORMA, a project that develop an open source licensed conformance checker following the requirements specified in the Challenge Brief