This page was exported from - Digital meets Culture
Export date: Fri Oct 30 18:46:11 2026 / +0000 GMT

Hack4Europe! 2012 Berlin, Staatsbibliothek

Hack4Europe! is a series of hack days organised by the Europeana Foundation and its partners and provides an exciting environment to explore the potential of open cultural data for social and economic growth in Europe.

The idea: The Hack Day Hack4Europe! 2012 Berlin will bring together up to 30 developers from Germany and other European countries in a two day event. They will have access to the diverse and rich Europeana collections containing over 20 million records through the Europeana Search API (incl. a test key and technical documentation).