Joint DCH-RP/EUDAT workshops on digital preservation

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION]

On the 3rd and 4th of June 2014, the National Archives of Sweden hosted in Stockholm two workshops organised by DCH-RP in cooperation with EUDAT on the theme of digital preservation of cultural data.

Workshop 1: Digital Cultural Heritage Roadmap for Preservation

In focus of this workshop were the possibilities and challenges connected to long-term digital preservation of on one hand cultural heritage institutions' holdings and collections and on the other hand research data. The aim was to present the intermediate results of work conducted in the frame of the EU projects DCH-RP and EUDAT, both looking into distributed infrastructure solutions. The results will be taken into account for the final version of the Roadmap for the long-term preservation of Digital Cultural Heritage content, which is due by the end of September 2014 and which represents the main outcome of the DCH-RP project.

Workshop 2: The Concept of Trust ? Research data and Cultural Heritage Data]

The second workshop had its focus on collaboration issues between the DCH-RP and EUDAT projects on the concept of trust. The aim was to discuss the needs for trust models suitable for digital cultural heritage data and e-science and their use in distributed preservation architectures. The discussions was based on three case studies mirroring different situations involving cultural heritage information and research data.
