No Time to Wait! 3

MediaArea and the British Film Institute are pleased to announce the third No Time to Wait conference, a free two-day symposium focused on open media, open standards, and digital audiovisual preservation hosted by the British Film Institute, who are about to begin a 5 year digitisation of obsolete videotape formats, preserving to open formats.

Those working with audiovisual archiving, digital preservation, open media, and open standards as well as curious onlookers are welcome to attend, discuss, and present on subjects pertaining to our theme: the intersection of open media, standardization, and audiovisual preservation. With generous support from our host (thx BFI) and our sponsors, the registration is free.

When: Thursday, October 25 and Friday, October 26, 2018

Where: BFI Southbank, London, UK

Free Registration: https://bit.ly/nttw3signup

Call for Proposals: https://bit.ly/nttw3proposals

Please watch the website for No Time to Wait 3 or follow @nttwconf for updates. The source code of the website is available at GitHub. Feel welcome to send any questions, comments, or inquiries to MediaArea.