Open Preservation Foundation publishes Annual Report

The 2014-2016 Annual Report has been published by Open Preservation Foundation.

The Open Preservation Foundation sustains technology and knowledge for the long-term management of digital cultural heritage. The report looks back on the activities and achievements undertaken by the Foundation over the past two years. Highlights include:

- Launch of strategic plan 2015-18, new name, brand and website
- New membership and software supporter model
- Technology: stewardship and sustainability
- Knowledge: webinars and interest groups
- New Alliances and community contributions
- Project summaries
- An introduction to the year ahead

veraPDF, one of the three open source projects funded in the framework in PREFORMA, is considered "a crucial technical success by providing the definitive implementation of a PDF/A validation tool, which was released in version 0.14 earlier this year. Such a tool is eagerly awaited by organisations around the world and will certainly have a huge impact in the preservation community and beyond. The project also supports important on-going collaboration with the PDF Association." (Ross King, Austrian Institute of Technology, Chair of the Board of Directors of OPF).

The report is freely available HERE.