Paris 8 University lunches the UNCHARTED project

The choice of Paris 8 to dedicate a page to UNCHARTED project in the university website is a key contribution for the promotion of the project among researchers and experts of the academic world.
The showcase has been included in the section reserved to the "actualités" and it is easily accessible by all visitors of the university website. The description, clear and precise, enhances the kick off meeting of last 7th February, presents the main topics of the research and identifies the members of the consortium highlighting the scientific and technical knowledge that will support the implementation and outcomes of the project.
