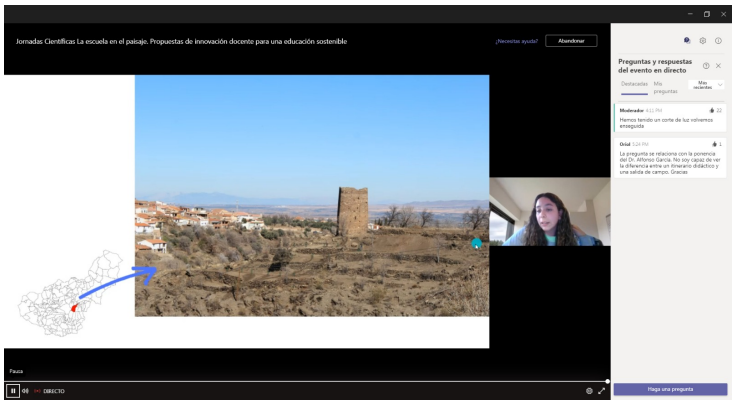
On 27 April, the project coordinator's team at University of Granada presented the paper: "From the School to the balate: Education as a tool for the recovery of cultural landscapes" at the Scientific Conference The school in the landscape. Proposals of teaching innovation for a sustainable education.



In this conference, we talked about the recovery activities of the Jérez ravine (Jérez del Marquesado, Granada) that were carried out in past months in the Altiplano de Granada.
