The Hidden Side of Bibracte: now blogpost live on Europeana

What if the visible remains of a place are only a tiny part of its story?

With this blogpost, written by EUreka3D-XR's partner Bibracte EPCC, you can discover how augmented reality, combined with complementary digital resources, reveals the many hidden layers of Bibracte's archaeological heritage.

Read "The hidden side of Bibracte" at this link<<<<

EUreka3D-XR project is co-financed by the Digital Europe Programme of the European Union.