WEAVE mentioned in the ResDance Podcast series

text by Rosa Cisneros, C-DARE Coventry University.

ResDance Podcast series, curated by Dr. Gemma Harman, Senior Lecturer in Dance and Dance Science, Dance Department at the University of Chichester, is a podcast dedicated to research methodologies and methods in dance practice, intended for educators, students, practitioners and performers and interdisciplinary researchers curious to learn more about dance research in action.

All episodes can be heard at the following link. Please feel free to use the link as you wish and in your own work/resources:

ResDance Podcast: https://anchor.fm/gemma-harman]

ResDance Series episodes brought together a number of leading thinkers and researchers in the field of dance. A full list can be found below. WEAVE's partner Rosa Cisneros was a guest on the series and in her episode discusses the WEAVE LabDay methodology and her research with communities. You can listen here: https://anchor.fm/gemma-harman/episodes/ResDance-Episode-9-Collaborative-ways-of-working-e1ci5n5

Enjoy the other episodes all freely available on the ResDance Podcast channels:

Episode 1: Researching Site Dance with Vicky Hunter
Episode 2: Choreographing and Performing with outdoor site with Virginia Farman
Episode 3: Evolving methods in dance research with Imogen Aujla
Episode 4: Dance Health Research with Bethany Whiteside
Episode 5: Dance Health Research: A person-centred approach with Ashley McGill
Episode 6: Reflections on interdisciplinary methodologies with Clare Parfitt Episode 7: Documentation and digital tools in dance research with Rebecca Stancliffe
Episode 8: Dancing across Screen and in Popular Performance with Sherril Dodds
Episode 9: Collaborative ways of working with Rosa Cisenros
Episode 10: Embodied Inquiry with Nicole Brown & Jennifer Leigh
Episode 11: The intersections between practice and philosophy with Erin Manning