EuropeanaPhotography Seminar
Software for managing digital collections

Barcelona, 29th January 2014

A one day Seminar to explore the best ways to select software for managing a digital collection.

Database systems have been crucial to transform the practice in managing digital collections. However, digital image (whether born digital or digitised from a photograph) represent a new challenge as technology continues to transform our cultural heritage organizations. Creation, management and use of digital assets has become core business for LAM (Libraries, Archives and Museums) sector.

In response to these challenges, the model of professional collections management has expanded beyond the physical collection and its associated information to include Digital Asset Management (DAM).

In this seminar we will identify the main functionalities needed for managing an image collection and we will analyse different systems. It will also take place the presentation of different experiences from Europeana Photography partners related to this subject.
