The Open Book of Photomediations

This project will:

- develop a creative multi-platform resource, which we are calling an 'open book', on photography and media, using Europeana cultural resources
- implement a structure for the wide use and dissemination of this resource.

The Open Book of Photomediations will contain:

- still and moving images concerning the evolution and current practices of photography and its engagement with other media
- academic and curatorial texts on photography and media.
