WHAT DO PARTICIPANTS SAY?

"I believe for quite a while now that the discussions around eLearning have not been 'out of the box' enough. eLearning Africa provides us with a great opportunity to look at almost a decade of this experience and say, "where are we now, as Africans?". This is the place to be!"

Bright Simons, CEO, mPedigree, Ghana. Speaker, 2014

"eLearning Africa 2014 has been an eye-opener for me; with a lot of networks created and opportunities for partnerships and collaborations. Actually, I have started getting emails from different universities to which I can apply to, for my PHD Study. This was all the outcome of eLearning Africa 2014."

Florence Barbara Awino, International University of East Africa, Uganda. Participant, 2014

"We enjoyed ourselves and made many new friends and business contacts. Being the platinum sponsor … made a huge difference and we feel it was very much worth the money."

Noel Atkinson, Yazmi. Platinum Sponsor, 2014

"The conference gave me a new perspective on how ICT can help greatly in the development and educational sectors in Liberia after the 14 years of civil war. From the sessions and networking in Windhoek, I believe that eLearning could become an integral part of Liberia's virgin ICT and education sectors."

Luther D. Jeke, iLab Liberia, Liberia. Speaker, 2013
